

Right To Work Bill Signed By Gov. Kennon

Louisiana 17th
State To Enact
Such A Measure

BATON ROUGE, July 2 (AP) — Gov. Robert Kennon signed the right to work bill into law today and said "It secures to every man and woman in Louisiana a freedom of choice."

With his action, Louisiana joined Mississippi and South Carolina in adopting right-to-work acts this year and became the 17th state with such a law.

The bill prohibiting compulsory union membership will go into effect July 25, or 20 days after the Legislature finally adjourns July 8.

The governor signed the bill a few hours after he spent two hours in a closed conference with labor union leaders.

President E. H. (Lige) Williams of the State Federation of Labor (AFL), headed the group of union officials. He is chairman of the executive committee of United Labor Organizations, a joint labor group formed to combat the bill.

Later, Williams said in his own statement that "although we hold this law to be class legislation of punitive and restrictive designs, we nevertheless accept its provisions as we always have accepted majority rule."

After weeks of turmoil in its journey through the Legislature, the bill cleared the House yesterday by a 58-41 vote. Several weeks earlier it passed the Senate 22-14.

Kennon, in a prepared statement announcing his signature, said a similar bill passed both houses in 1946 and "thus duly elected representatives of the People of Louisiana have twice decisively indicated that the people of this state wish such legislation to be on the statute books."

The 1946 legislation was vetoed by former Gov. Jimmie Davis. Kennon said he believed "too many rights of the individual have been infringed upon by the modern trend toward governmental regulation."

Uneasy Truce In Guatemala Signed By Rival Forces

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador, July 2—UP—Rival leaders of Guatemala's anti-Communist forces signed a shaky compromise truce calculated to insure peace in their strife-torn country for at least two weeks.

Rebel Col. Carlos Castillo Armas and provisional President Eladio H. Monzon embraced and wept after signing an agreement here, giving Guatemala its fourth government in a week.

The "peace treaty" temporarily confirms Monzon as provisional president to head a five-man military junta, including Castillo and an officer of his rebel army. But the treaty provides that the junta shall choose its own permanent head within two weeks.

Castillo and Monzon are expected to begin intruding at once for the permanent post in an atmosphere made tense by the presence of Castillo's rebel troops in Guatemala City, side by side with Monzon's regulars.

Friday's agreement provides that the rebel army, which the provisional president had sought to disband, shall march into the Guatemalan capital and share the city's military barracks with regular forces.

The new junta, third since pro-Communist President Jacobo Arbenz was ousted Sunday, adds Castillo and rebel Maj. Enrique Oliva to the three colonels who have been governing Guatemala since Tuesday — Monzon, Jose L. Cruz Salazar and Mauricio Dubois.

The junta will remain in power, serving both as government and congress, until a new constitution can be ratified and elections held. The Guatemalan capital was in a gala mood. Factory whistles and bells early in the day signalled an announcement by the official radio that "peace is with us," and flags blossomed throughout the city.

Authorities promptly proclaimed the day a holiday. Seasoned observers said they had not seen such rejoicing in Guatemala City in many years.

Vast Holdings In Guatemala Involved Anti-Trust Suit Is Filed Against United Fruit Co.

WASHINGTON, July 2 —UP— The government filed an anti-trust suit against the United Fruit Co. Friday, charging among other things that the firm had obtained control of nearly all the land in Central America used in growing bananas.

Four Villagers Die As Fighter Plane Crashes

UTICA, N. Y., July 2 (AP) — A jet fighter plane returning from a quick "scramble" to investigate an unidentified plane crashed in flames in a crossroads hamlet today and killed four persons on the ground.

Two houses and an automobile were destroyed.

The two Air Force lieutenants in the F94C Starfire, which carried 48 high-powered 2½-inch rockets, bailed out before it plunged into tiny Walesville, 11 miles southwest of Utica, about 12:30 p.m. The two, who escaped injury, were Lt. William E. Atkins, 24, of Dutton, Va., the pilot, and Lt. Henry F. Coudon, 26, of Perryville, Md., radar observer.

Killed were Stanley Phillips, 38, his wife, Florence, 32, and their son, Gary, 11, all of neighboring Hecla, and Mrs. Doris Monroe, 28, occupant of one of the houses that was destroyed. The Phillips family was in the automobile. Mrs. Monroe was in her home preparing lunch for her four children when the plane crashed.

The plane was attached to the 27th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at Griffiss Air Force Base, Rome. It was one of two jets ordered up to check on an unknown plane that had entered the area guarded by the air defense operation.

A Griffiss spokesman said the pilots were satisfied that the plane was "friendly" and were headed back to the base when fire broke out in the cockpit of the ill-fated craft.

The air base said the pilot and radar observer stuck to the plane until the "last minute." A spokesman quoted Atkins as reporting that he ordered Coudon to bail out, then jumped himself from about 7,000 feet.

Griffiss said that fuel in the burning plane apparently exploded when the jet crashed. A spokesman said it had not been determined whether an explosion occurred while the jet was in the air.

Earlier, an Air Force officer had said there "must have been an explosion."

The unoccupied plane struck a large elm tree back of the Walesville general store. A section of the burning craft, probably a wing, struck the car carrying the Phillips family home, presumably from the Rome State School, where both husband and wife were employed as occupational instructors.

The sedan burst into flames, ploughed into the home of Mrs. Mary Peck, 79, and set the colonial frame structure afire. Mrs. Peck fled to safety.

Earth And Mars At Minimum Distance

Earth and Mars were as close to each other as they ever get Friday—only 33,785,288 miles apart.

Hayden Planetarium astronomers said the two planets were in direct opposition last June 24 but were actually closer together Friday because of their unequal orbits.

Sen. Dayton McCann's measure outlawing the Communist party and any other subversive group in Louisiana won unanimous 68-0 approval and went to the governor for his signature.

McCann's bill directs the state attorney general to name an assistant to hunt down Reds and provides prison sentences of up to five years and $5,000 fines.

In a civil anti-trust suit filed in federal court in New Orleans, the Justice Department accused the company of monopolizing interstate and foreign trade in bananas.

United Fruit has vast holdings in Guatemala, scene of the recent anti-Communist revolt which resulted in ouster of the Red-tinged Guatemalan government.

United Fruit was a favorite target of the ousted Guatemalan government. It charged that the United States was behind the company's monopoly of Guatemala's banana-growing land.

The Justice Department said that since 1935 United Fruit has imported annually about two-thirds of all bananas brought into this country.

The department asked the court to compel the company to sell properties, facilities and affiliates in such a way as to reduce its control over the industry and to permit competition.

It said that its monopoly enables the company to control prices and exclude competitors.

The complaint listed five methods which it said United Fruit used to obtain its monopolistic position. It charged that United Fruit:

1. Obtained control of nearly all land in Central America used for growing bananas.
2. Obtained control of special privileges in wharf and communication facilities involved in banana shipments.
3. Gained control of suitable banana-transportation space on railroads and ships.
4. Engaged in price-cutting to eliminate competitors.
5. Intimidated customers by threatening to withdraw their supply of bananas.

Earthquake Hits Philippines; 22 Believed Dead

MANILA, Saturday, July 3 (AP) — An earthquake of great violence spread terror and destruction through the Central Philippines yesterday and left possibly 22 dead in the ruins of homes and buildings. Scores were injured.

Sorsogon, a provincial capital of 26,000 about 230 miles southeast of Manila, was in ruins. The head of the constabulary there said "20 persons are believed dead" and "property damage is enormous."

Huge cracks opened in the chain of dead volcanoes that gird Sorsogon. Tremendous landslides thundered down their slopes in the valleys of the rich agricultural region.

The complete picture of devastation was emerging slowly from the district because of knocked out communications.

Legaspi, a city of 78,000 nearly 10 miles north of Sorsogon, also was hit and two workmen were knocked from a scaffolding and killed, Philippine News Service said. But the extent of damage there was not known.

The quake appeared to center in the Sorsogon area of southeast Luzon and was felt with varying degrees of intensity on Panay, Masbate, Samar and Leyte islands as much as 200 miles to the south.

The shock was so heavy on Samar that it cracked the concrete walls of a high school building at Catbalogan, 100 miles southeast of Sorsogon.

Philippine News Service said 80 per cent of the old buildings were damaged.

62 Senate Bills Receive Okay In Louisiana House

BATON ROUGE, July 2 (AP)—The Louisiana House — troubled by a shrinking attendance — today dipped into a calendar loaded with Senate bills and rushed 62 to final passage.

Previously the House had passed only three Senate bills.

Quorum calls were interspersed with votes for final passage as Speaker Clarence Aycock fought to keep the necessary 51 votes present.

Sen. Dayton McCann's measure outlawing the Communist party and any other subversive group in Louisiana won unanimous 68-0 approval and went to the governor for his signature.

Also approved were:

1. A constitutional amendment approving the future creation of a charity hospital in Lake Charles. Passed 76-0.
2. A legislative act permitting Louisiana State University, the state Board of Education and state colleges to issue bonds to build revenue-producing facilities. Passed 56-0.

There was seldom a no vote as the House quickly sent anything controversial back to the calendar. The votes ranged from 51 to a high of 76. Many members went home last night after the vote on the controversial right-to-work bill.

The 76 votes came on Sen. Guy Sockrider's constitutional amendment creating a Lake Charles charity hospital. A roll call just before the vote showed 69 members present. A constitutional

ACCUSES EX-HUSBAND

Lady Adele Beatty, California-born wife of Britain's Earl Beatty, has accused her former husband, William V. O'Connor, of Los Angeles, of taking their young son from his governess and whisking him back to the U. S. (Telephoto)

Big Legal Battle Looms In Child Custody Dispute

LOS ANGELES, July 2 (AP) — Seven-year-old Timothy O'Connor splashed in a swimming pool today while his divorced parents retained counsel in an international struggle for his custody.

His father, William V. O'Connor, California's chief deputy attorney general, whisked the boy here from London last weekend. Said O'Connor:

"I'll raise my boy as an American if I have to take the case to the Supreme Court."

In London, the mother, Lady Adele Beatty, 33-year-old former New Yorker, prepared to fly to the United States "to try to get my son back."

Both sides retained lawyers here. O'Connor, interviewed at his home in fashionable, suburban Bel-Air, said he has engaged Attys. Jerry Giesler and Cameron Lillie.

The law firm of Wright, Wright, Green and Wright said it had been engaged by Lady Adele.

O'Connor told newsmen he believes the youngster, born here, should be educated as an American in American schools. He said his former wife, herself a California native, wants Timothy trained as an Englishman in British schools.

O'Connor said it was orally agreed at the time of the parents' Nevada divorce in 1949 that Timothy was to receive an American education with custody divided evenly by the parents after his seventh birthday.

He said Lady Adele's present husband, Earl Beatty, has an 8-year-old son by a previous marriage and:

"I certainly would defend Lord Beatty's right to raise his son as an Englishman. Traditions must be observed. The British have theirs. We have ours."

O'Connor made a quick flight to London and picked up the boy. There Lady Adele declared today:

"I have never violated any agreement. After Tim was 7, which was last December, the matter of mutual visits with his father was to be adjusted."

"We were involved in a war in Korea, which cost us about 150,000 American casualties and there was no end in sight," he said. "The war in Indo-China had been going on for six years. We had a defense program, which in our efforts to keep strong everywhere all over the world, meant that we weren't strong enough anywhere. Now that was the situation we found."

In order to get things settled in the merry month of June, an impatient man rushed to deputy clerk in a certain court house.

"I want to get a marriage license for me and my girl friend," he ejaculated.

The official at the desk, in readiness to prepare the form, asked first the name of the bride-to-be.

"Well I always call her Mary Ann," he declared.

"Very good. I will now have to have her last name," the patient official said.

"Well, I think it is Gillhousey," he said. "But I never did see it written out and I can't spell it!"

A telephone book was called in to service and ultimately the name was properly spelled.

"It's funny how excited some people get when they come to apply for a marriage license," commented the official.

Nixon Assails Democrats For Losing Asia To Reds

Deplores Policy Of Surrender At Council Tables

600 Million Free
People Enslaved,
He Says On TV

WASHINGTON, July 2 —UP—Vice President Richard M. Nixon Friday night accused the former Truman administration of adopting a "policy of surrender at the conference table" that lost 600 million persons to the Communists.

Nixon, delivering his second attack on the Democrats within a week, also declared that the Eisenhower administration has laid down a "policy of strength" that calls for the use of massive retaliatory power against "the major source of aggression" in event of war.

But he added that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are "the two men most capable by experience and background" of leading the free world to victory over the Communists without a war.

In a filmed television broadcast with Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N. Y.), Nixon said that when the Republicans took over "we found in examining the previous policy that it was a policy of weakness, a policy of surrender of principle at the conference table."

Nixon's attack came as the Democrats still were smarting from his charge in a speech last Saturday that the fall of China and the Korean and Indo-Chinese wars were the result of the foreign policy of former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

President Eisenhower was asked at his news conference last Thursday whether Nixon spoke for the Eisenhower administration. The President said Nixon normally reflects administration thinking. Mr. Eisenhower also said he had not read Nixon's Saturday speech.

Nixon said in the broadcast the Eisenhower administration had adopted "a policy of strength—one in which our people go to the conference table, as Secretary Dulles has said, determined not to surrender our principles but to make them prevail."

He said a "good indication" of that policy was the conduct of Dulles and Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith at the Big Four Geneva conference.

Nixon said Dulles and Smith came back from Geneva "without giving to the Communists at the conference table what our fighting men had denied them on the battlefields of Korea."

"You will recall that during the previous administration 600 million people had been lost to the Communists by the free world," Nixon said. "Not a single Russian soldier was lost, incidentally, as they were gaining those 600 million people."

"We were involved in a war in Korea, which cost us about 150,000 American casualties and there was no end in sight," he said. "The war in Indo-China had been going on for six years. We had a defense program, which in our efforts to keep strong everywhere all over the world, meant that we weren't strong enough anywhere. Now that was the situation we found."

Mercury Stays Under 100 Mark

The mercury "plunged" yesterday to a 98 degree maximum temperature at the CAA weather station at Selman Field from a high for the year set Thursday, officially tagged at 104 degrees. On Thursday, the thermometer at the City Hall recorded a sizzling 108.

A continuation of the forecast of widely scattered thundershowers still gives Monroe residents some hope of a sudden respite from the intense heat of the last few days.

3 Appropriation Bills Are Signed

WASHINGTON, July 2 —UP— President Eisenhower Friday signed the last three of the regular appropriation bills to run the government in the fiscal year that started Thursday.

The bills carried funds for the Department of State, Justice, Commerce, Labor, and Health, Education and Welfare, and for the U.S. Information Service, Congress and the courts. They brought total appropriations for the year so far to $42,871,715,103.

Miss Louisiana Collegiate Girls Capture Lead At Lake Providence

LAKE PROVIDENCE, July 2 (Special)—Two college misses, Miss McNeese State College, and Miss Louisiana Tech, went out in front tonight in the fifth annual Miss Louisiana pageant by capturing honors in the first preliminary bathing suit and talent contests.

Beverly Lenore Helms, Miss McNeese State College, of Lake Charles, captured the swim suit honors. She is the 18-year-old daughter of Mrs. and Mr. H. H. Helms, and a graduate of the Lafayette High School. Miss Helms was listed at 135 pounds, in weight, five feet, seven inches tall, with a 36 inch bust and hips.

Miss Louisiana Tech, Gail Gleason, a native of Belcher, and an art major at the college in Ruston, won the talent competition with a piano solo, "Prelude in B Sharp Minor." She has been a piano student about 12 years.

Although 16 contestants were scheduled to enter the contest, only 15 remained tonight as Miss Oak Grove, Beverly McKenzie, failed to appear. The remaining contestants divided up in the competition, with seven entering in talent, and eight in the swim suit divisions. Saturday, the two groups will switch categories when further preliminaries are held at 8 p.m.

Judges in the contest are Mr. and Mrs. Buckner Chase, of Memphis; Mrs. and Mrs. James Pearson, Forest City, Ark.; A. F. Thomas, Jr., Helena, Ark.; and Mayor and Mrs. Harold Falls, of Wynne, Ark.

Saturday's activities feature the Miss Louisiana parade at 4 p.m., immediately after a water sking exhibition from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. (Continued on Second Page)

Bills To Keep Livestock Off Roads Signed

BATON ROUGE, July 2 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon today signed a two-part legislative program designed to prevent livestock from roaming major Louisiana highways and provide funds to help build fences.

The Legislature completed action on the program earlier in the week when the House concurred in amendments to Rep. Cecil Blair's bill which now appropriates $800,000 for fencing the highways, provided patches match the funds.

Rep. Percy Roberts of East Baton Rouge authored the actual law which bans live stock from the highways. It forbids livestock from state highways with a 1,000 or more daily vehicle count and provides a $50,000 appropriation for enforcement.

The Roberts bill will not go into effect for one year, to give cattlemen a chance to fence their property.

Senate Passes Ike's Big Tax Revision Bill

Measure Goes To Conference Group
For Adjustments

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP) — A giant bill overhauling the nation's tax structure was passed by the Senate today, 63-9, in pretty much the form that President Eisenhower asked.

Just before passage, the Senate rejected for the fourth time in three days a move to grant a general income tax cut. The bill as it stands provides about $1,300,000,000 in selected tax cuts for corporations and individuals, but changes no major rates.

The fourth and final turnaround of general tax relief was a 62-15 vote against a motion by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) to instruct the Finance Committee to rewrite the bill so as to give a general tax cut to persons in the middle and low income brackets.

Douglas argued that the bill benefited corporations and rich individuals, but did little for others. The majority heeded the argument that it was a balanced bill that corrected many inequities in present law.

The huge measure, now swollen by amendments to a total of more than 1,300 pages, represents the first sweeping revision of general tax legislation in 78 years. Eisenhower has called it essential to the program of his administration.

Reapportionment In State Killed By Senate Vote

BATON ROUGE, July 2 (AP) — All hopes for major reapportionment by this session of the Louisiana Legislature died today when the Senate, by a 21-15 vote, scuttled a plan to restrict the Senate on an automatic basis after 1964.

Sen. Harry Howard's proposed constitutional amendment once received a majority vote in its favor, but it needed 26 for a trip to the House.

On reconsideration, however, it fell before rural senators who thought the city would gain too much power.

Except for minor changes involving one seat, neither house has shown any disposition to reapportion its membership. The Senate passed a bill giving the East Baton Rouge district an extra seat, but it was defeated in the House.

The House has asked an extra seat for Jefferson Parish. Its Senate fate is uncertain although as a simple legislative act it needs only 20 votes.

Under Howard's plan a commission composed of the Secretary of State, chief justice of the Supreme Court, president of the State Bar Association and one senator and one representative would take on the tough job of Senate reapportionment if the Legislature failed to carry out its mandate.

Louisiana's last three constitutions have provided for mandatory reapportionment every 10 years by the Legislature, but no Louisiana in 73 years has heeded the change.

Howard, from New Orleans, would put reapportionment on a 20-year basis.

House Approves Compromise Crop Price Supports

WASHINGTON, July 2 (AP)—A compromise farm bill calling for flexible price supports for major crops and arming President Eisenhower with other powers to attack the problem of mountainous surpluses was passed by the House today and sent to the Senate.

Action was on a voice vote. The President didn't get all the authority he wanted to administer price supports on a sliding scale ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

But the House voted 228-170 on a roll call to allow the Agriculture Department to adjust its price props on a range extending from 82½ to 90 per cent of parity.

This was an administration-backed compromise introduced at the last minute by Rep. Harrison (R-Neb). It effectively blocked a strong drive by farm state legislators to continue supports at 95 per cent of parity through 1955.

Parity is a legal standard for fixing prices on the six basic crops, wheat, cotton, corn, rice, peanuts and tobacco. Adjustments are made in relation to the cost of basic things the farmer needs to produce his crops.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse told reporters the House action was "encouraging" because it was a move toward full flexibility in the government's price support program. He spoke in the absence of Secretary of Agriculture Benson, who is speaking in Port Isabel, Tex., tomorrow.

Outstanding provisions in the bill include:

1. A 2½ billion dollar "set aside" of surpluses from the Commodity Credit Corporation's stocks for relief, foreign aid, stockpile and other purposes. It would also cut down marketable surpluses, reducing the "dampening" effect of CCC stocks hanging over the market.

2. An incentive payment plan for wool growers, permitting the secretary of agriculture to support wool prices as high as 110 per cent of parity to encourage production closer to the level of domestic requirements.

3. A hike in price supports for dairy products from the present floor of 75 per cent of parity to 80 per cent. The increase would be effective until next April 1. This section of the bill also contains authority for direct subsidies to butter producers and processors to encourage disposal of dairy surpluses.

But the big issue in the legislation was flexible price supports.

The administration argues that a sliding scale would tend to slow down the accumulation of surpluses—6½ billion dollars worth—which are now bulging out of government warehouses.

Kennon Signs Big Money Bill

BATON ROUGE, July 2 (AP)—Gov. Robert Kennon today signed the record-breaking general appropriations bill, providing 534 million dollars in funds for state agencies.

The measure totalled only 516 million when introduced but the House added 16 millions and the Senate added two million.

Most additions went to education, with both Louisiana State University and the State Department of Education getting large cuts restored. The cuts were made by budget director Harvey Rester.

Because of the size of the measure, which threatened to cause a deficit, an amendment provided that the state auditor and treasurer can trim five per cent from each item if revenues drop.

Holiday Weather Cool In North

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long Fourth of July holiday weekend got off to a pleasant and cool start in the Northern states Friday, but it was warm and humid in the South.

Rain was confined mostly from the Northern Plains to the Great Lakes region and the middle Mississippi Valley.

A cool front stretched east and west across most of the nation's midriff. Afternoon temperatures were mostly in the 70s or lower in the northern tier of states and in the 90s or higher in the South.

The contrast was sharp in some places. Chicago, in the swelterbelt, had an afternoon reading of 94 degrees. At the same time Milwaukee, 90 miles farther north, reported a cool 61.

Other afternoon temperatures included Macon, Ga., 101; Ponca City, Okla., 101; Little Rock, Ark., 100; Dallas, 96; Atlanta, 96; New York, 89; Boston, 88; Denver, 86; Buffalo, N.Y., 72; Los Angeles, 70; San Francisco, 69; Bismarck, N.D., 62; Seattle, 58.

mentation and that it is good for our American system of government to have a maximum of individual liberty.

"The bill which I have approved secures to every man and woman in Louisiana a freedom of choice. Nothing in the act prevents his joining a union—on the other hand, he is left free to make an individual decision."

Kennon contended adoption of the act "will not deprive union labor of any of its present members."

Williams, hours after the conference with the governor, said the law "will not bring about any relaxation on labor's part to organize the wage earners of Louisiana."

"We emerge from the bitter right to work controversy as united union members, more convinced than ever of the need for extending our benefits to all workers throughout the state."

Williams warned "this will be particularly true of those who need that help most, such as the impoverished agricultural workers of the state. One thing has become startlingly clear... sponsors of the so-called right to work measure have completely abandoned the small farmers of Louisiana."

Chicago Mill Buys Timber Holdings Of Massachusetts Firm

TALLULAH, July 2. (Special)—

R. N. Ware, vice-president Chicago Mill and Lumber Company, said today that with the recent purchase of the Louisiana timber holdings of the Ayer Timber Company of Boston, Mass., the Chicago Mill and Lumber Company expects to perpetuate their plant operations here.

The company has for some years past followed a selective cutting practice, which should not only extend the life of the plant indefinitely, but improve the quality of timber as well.

62 Senate Bills

amendment requires 67 votes.

Aycock warned members a number of times during the day to "vote your own machines," and several times had the sergeant at arms make a check.

Chief reason for the session today was to permit the speaker to sign in open session the appropriations bills passed yesterday by the Senate. Under the rules, money measures must be on the governor's desk Sunday, five days before adjournment.

When the final appropriation bill cleared the enrolling room around noon, Aycock signed it and the House adjourned until 8 p.m. Sunday.

In addition to the record-breaking 534 million dollar general appropriations measure, the Legislature has approved some 20 million in special appropriations.

destroyed in Sorsogon, a sprawling agricultural community of lightly constructed dwellings and stone and frame buildings.

The towering steeple on the Catholic cathedral came crashing down and crushed to death two school children fleeing for safety.

When the first great quake hit shortly before 11 a.m., residents fled in panic from homes, office buildings and schools and covered in the open as three lighter shocks hit in rapid succession.

Patients at Sorsogon Provincial Hospital were taken out safely to the grounds and sheltered under trees.

Philippine news Service said bodies of 10 victims had been recovered and rescue crews were searching debris for more. Hospital treated 44 injured but were handicapped by a shortage of blood plasma.

hoods or black stockings with eye slits.

Mrs. Vern Anderson, 48, working in one of the cages, dropped with both hands on the foot holdup alarm. She lifted the alarm lever, which flashes a warning to a central headquarters, which in turn notifies police.

A gunman scooping up money in her cage did not interfere or comment, except to tell her to keep her head down.

Mrs. Donna Rust, 34, a bookkeeper, slid behind a desk taking a telephone with her. She dialed police and whispered what was happening.

Several persons in a second-story dental clinic over the South Side bank noticed the lookout with the machine gun and peered out of the window.

The robber swung the gun muzzle in their direction and shouted for them to get back.

No shots were fired and no one was injured in the two minutes the robbers were in the bank.

The holdup men, in effect, got "bonus" loot totaling $24,500 for staging the holdup so early. A bag containing that sum was being readied for storage in the bank vault when the robbers entered.

One of the gunmen seized it. A woman neighbor said the getaway car sped north toward Chicago's Loop from an alley behind the bank.

Meanwhile, because of a mistake in transmitting the address, two police squads were sent to 95th St. and S. Park Ave., more than a mile from the bank.

An audit showed the loot totaled $46,878. All is covered by insurance.

FBI agents entered the case immediately. Guy Banister, FBI chief in Chicago, urged that anyone with useful knowledge of the holdup contact the FBI or the police department.

Senate Passes

Committees must now get together and adjust differences between the versions passed by the two branches. There are numerous differences, but most of them are technical.

The Senate named Sens. Milliken (R-Colo.), William A. (R-Id.), George (D-Ga.) and Byrd (D-Va.) as its representatives in the adjusting process. Milliken shepherded the bill through the Senate. One of the big differences between the House and Senate is how to treat income received from dividends.

The House bill would consider the first $50 of dividend income tax free, and permit a taxpayer to deduct from his tax bill 5 per cent of his dividend income above $50 in the first year of the legislation. In subsequent years the first $100 would be tax exempt and the taxpayer could deduct 10 per cent of dividend income above $100.

The Senate, in a day and night of maneuvering on Thursday, knocked out all of this except the $50 exemption, which would be permanent.

The Republican theory advanced by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was that the House-type plan would encourage the buying of dividend-producing stocks, and thereby produce needed capital for job-creating business expansion.

Democratic critics scoffed at that. They contended it was "a rich man's bill."

Major features of the Senate bill included:

A faster method of writing off depreciation costs on a plant or piece of equipment, the idea being to speed plant expansion and improvement.

Extension until next April 1 of the 52 per cent rate of tax on corporate income. Without this the rate would drop to 47 per cent and the government would lose $1,200,000,000 in revenue.

A provision for working mothers to deduct up to $600 of expenses for child care, if the family income does not exceed $4,500.

Petrmission for college students to earn as much as they can, without their fathers losing the $600 exemption for a dependent.

An increase from 20 to 30 per cent in the amount of income that can be given to charity and be claimed as a deduction.

An increase in the amount of deductible allowances for medical expenses. Taxpayers could deduct these expenses in amounts above 3 per cent of income, instead of the present 5 per cent.

An exemption from the basic 20 per cent income tax on retirement pay of up to $1,200.

Permission for farmers to deduct soil and water conservation expenditures up to 25 per cent of farm income.

Catholic Church State's Rights Leaders In Row Over Segregation Bills

BATON ROUGE, July 2 (AP)—Louisiana's plans to outflank the U. S. Supreme Court's historic segregation decision got pinned down today in a crossfire of criticism from the Catholic Church and a states rights leader.

Catholic Action of the South, official organ of the archdiocese of New Orleans, blasted segregation bills awaiting action in the Senate as "the most vicious and dangerous legislative proposals we have seen in the United States."

But when the Senate Education Committee attempted to answer

Catholic objections with amendments to exclude private and parochial schools, an angry barrage went up from the other side.

States Rights leader Leander Perez denounced the move as "traitorous," claimed it sold "down the river the inherent rights of the majority of white children in this state."

Square in the middle of the two conflicting forces stood Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, chairman of a 10-man legislative committee seeking legal means of continuing southern racial traditions without running afoul of the federal courts. "We attempted the most logical and practical solution that could be devised at this time," Rainach told both sides. "This is a course of moderation that would follow a path between those who might go too far and those who might not go far enough."

The senator said further compromise would be attempted before the bills come up for final floor action, probably Monday.

The House has passed two bills and a constitutional amendment prepared by Rainach's committee to:

1. Permit the state to use its inherent police power to continue racial segregation in elementary and secondary schools. The U. S. Supreme Court has never challenged the police power of a state.
2. Allow the Legislature to call a special election at any time to change the state constitution with emergency education plans after the high court issues a decree putting its segregation ban into effect. Under present law, constitutional amendments can be voted on only in congressional and general elections.

3. Direct the parish school superintendent to assign each student to a public school in advance of a school term.
4. Take criminal action against anyone attempting to foment court suits to defeat the purpose of the segregation plan.

When the bills hit the Senate, Gov. Robert Kennon called an 11th hour session to answer growing Catholic opposition and avert a floor fight on a religious issue.

As a result, amendments adopted by the Senate Education Committee limited the proposals to public schools and deleted the provision calling for criminal action against lawyers taking part in anti-segregation suits.

The latter was requested by the State Bar Association. "They thought it was a bit strong and might endanger the constitutionality of the act," Rainach explained.

Archdiocesan spokesmen, however, complained the superintendent assignment bill, untouched by the committee, automatically sent children to public schools, denying "parents the basic right to send their children to a school of their choice."

Detectives Hunt Man's Assailant, Clues In Thefts

Monroe city detectives Friday were continuing investigations in a series of merchandise thefts and a reported thug attack upon a visiting Rayville man Thursday night and early Friday.

The Rayville motorist, T. C. Boyer, 27, reported to police that he was "knocked unconscious and robbed of $130" at about 3 a.m. Friday when he offered a ride to two apparent hitchhikers in the 2700 block of DeSiard Street.

Boyer reportedly told police that he stopped for the two khaki-clad men at 3 o'clock; that they dragged him from his automobile when he opened the door, slugged him into unconsciousness, and that he awoke more than an hour later and discovered his wallet and $130 missing.

No arrests had been reported late Friday.

Also under investigation yesterday were three thefts, one involving two calculating machines valued at $800, another listed as a $30 tool box, and the third reported to be two small-link chains valued at $25.

The office machines were reported stolen from an automobile owned by L. H. Stickle, West Monroe, and parked in the 2800-block of DeSiard Street sometime Thursday night.

Chief of Detectives Hugh Tolbert said the machines bear the serial numbers 643498 and 603563. One unit is described as a model LA7-160 and the other a model CST-8.

The lesser thefts also involved ransacked vehicles.

Joe Rogers, Jr., reported his tool box, bearing his name and containing $30 in electrician's tools, was stolen from the bed of a pickup truck parked at the General Electric Appliance Center at 1020 North Fourth Street. He said the theft was discovered at 9 a.m. Friday.

The two chains, each 30 feet in length, were reported stolen from a parked automobile at the swimming pool Thursday night. Norman Wadell, 801 Glenmar, owner of the automobile, said the theft occurred after 6 p.m. Thursday.

Civilians Install New Officers At Thursday Session

The Monroe Civitan club's official family for the coming year, President Conrad Lee, Vice-President Lanier Thompson, and Secretary Edwin C. Rowan, Jr., were formally installed at a meeting here Thursday night.

District Governor Ed Kleinneger, of the Minden club, served as installing officer at the ceremonies held in the LaCasa tearoom.

Also seated were members of the directorate, Howard Willard, W. J. George and John Yarbrough.

In addition to his official inducting duty, Kleinneger reported briefly concerning the international Civitan convention held recently in St. Louis.

OPERATE SPEED-WATCH—One of the many devices to be used on the highways this week will be Speed-Watch, which is being handled here by Captain Roy Byrd, left, and Sgt. John V. Jones, Troop F, Louisiana state police. The Speed-Watch, which has just been distributed throughout the state charts the exact speed of all oncoming automobiles. The machine shown being handled by Sgt. Jones is connected with wires lying across the highway. When an automobile crosses the first wire, the Speed-Watch begins operation, and as it crosses the second wire, 132 feet away, the exact speed is recorded on the face of the machine. Birthday-Tagged Driver's License Goes Into Effect

Louisiana motorists born on February 29 in leap years may have an interesting status under the new driver license law which went into effect throughout the state Friday.

Expiration dates for such licenses are now calculated from the operator's anniversary of birth. Under the new regulation, each applicant for a driver's permit will pay two dollars. This license is to expire on the anniversary of the applicant's birth date, "which is nearest to a date two years subsequent to the issuing date."

Col. Chester B. Owen, director of the state department of public safety, has further explained the revised law:

Applicants who fail to make timely application for renewal of licenses must pay a penalty of one dollar if the license is expired less than six months, and two dollars if more than six months.

Members of the Armed Forces, outside of Louisiana, who hold a valid license before entering the service, will continue to have valid license without renewal until 60 days after discharge.

Persons driving vehicles for others, or operating vehicles of over 3,500 pounds, must have a valid chauffeur's license.

Summer Music Camp Scheduled On Tech Campus

RUSTON, July 2 (Special)—High school students numbering more than 200 and representing cities in Louisiana, Arkansas, and Mississippi, will arrive on the Louisiana Tech campus Sunday in preparation for the fifth annual summer camp of music and dramatics beginning here Monday.

The camp registration will begin at 8 a.m. Monday, according to J. V. E. Irvine, director, with activities continuing through July 17.

Workshops and classes will get underway Monday afternoon, Irvine said. A camp staff of 36 persons will be on hand to give the students instruction in music, twirling, radio, dramatics, art, journalism, photography, voice and related subjects. Making up the staff will be Tech faculty members and students, public school teachers from the three - states area, and various other professional persons.

Combined with the two weeks of study will be a recreation program designed to keep the campers provided with plenty of fun and social life, Irvine commented. Several of these events will be open for the general public.

Contract Let By Parish Board On New Grade School

A parish school board contract for construction of a $200,215 elementary school building in Monroe has been awarded the Jesse F. Heard and Son, low bidder for the project.

Completion date for the Bernston Park school, housing 18 classrooms on its one floor and accommodating 570 students, has been estimated to be July 1, 1955. The Smith and Padgett architectural firm, designers of the building, said additional rooms may be added to the 410-foot structure when the enrollment warrants.

A California style of construction will be used. Ceramic tile will replace the usual plaster. The rooms will be floored with asphalt tile, and will have aluminum windows.

A covered arcade will be provided, and each room will open to it. On rainy days, the architects say, this covered area will keep mud from being tracked into the building.

Radiant heating will be used, and the building will be finished in an artistic brick. The 20-acre tract on which the building is located will provide adequate playground space, and room for future expansion, the architects say. The grounds are already well-shaded.

Surrender

By David Lawrence

The big decision before the Western powers in Europe is not just to surrender to the Communist aggression in Indo-China—but how to do it gracefully.

For it is apparent now that our European allies have rejected the idea of resisting by military force the march of the aggressor in Southeast Asia and are ready finally to appease the enemy.

The new Prime Minister of France dislikes appeasement but feels that French public opinion demands it.

The Prime Minister of Great Britain, faced with the rising political power of his opposition in Parliament, evidently assumes that he also must stand for peace at almost any price.

So the British Foreign Secretary comes forth with a speech recommending a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia such as was adopted at Locarno in 1925 and was torn into shreds later by Hitler, when it suited his purpose. What is significant is that Britain seems ready to recede from the doctrine of military pressure as a deterrent force and prefers to trust to the tender mercies of the Kremlin to refrain from precipitating a world war.

Mr. Eden has said again what Mr. Truman and Mr. Acheson said often in their speeches about the fear of a general war. Every time such a fear is expressed as the basic motive for appeasement, the enemy construes the statement as a sign of weakness—namely, that the West will do almost anything to prevent a war, even perhaps surrender in advance.

So the governments of Britain and France are today, in effect, begging the enemy to be cooperative—to set up a pattern that will save their faces.

Reading some of the speeches delivered in the House of Commons last week, one would imagine the menace of Communist imperialism was wholly theoretical rather than real and that the United States alone has been disturbed by this supposed bugaboo.

The infiltration by Communist imperialists around the world cannot be brushed aside merely by ignoring it. The events in Guatemala—at our own back door—dramatically confirm the inroads made by the Communist agents who have also been stirring up trouble for Britain in Iran and Egypt and Malaya and for France in Tunisia and Morocco, as well as in Indo-China.

Are the British and French statesmen blind to realities? Not at all. They know as well as anybody in this country that the Communists are evil and they knew that Hitler and his Nazi techniques were evil, too. But they felt compelled to try appeasement at Munich in 1938, and they are trying it again today. It is a policy of desperation.

Can it stay the hand of the enemy now even though it didn't stop World War II fifteen years ago? Wishful thinking prevails at present throughout Europe, where the horror of another war has implanted itself so deeply that it is not unfair to say that there are many Frenchmen who, on being asked to choose between a military occupation by the Communists and a world war, would gladly choose survival through surrender rather than death in a war.

Pacifism and non-resistance have become widespread since the news of what the H-bomb can do has been publicized. Diplomacy no longer can operate in London and Paris as in the past on the confident assumption that peoples would fight for their freedom and independence and die rather than become slaves.

In the face of such a trend, Communists have only to intensify their infiltration tactics to take over free governments in Europe, one by one, as they see victory ahead in the worldwide campaign for their ideology.

America alone stands unconvinced that surrender and appeasement are necessary. There are, to be sure, even some Americans who call their own government a "war monger" and who exert the pressure of criticism upon those of us who plead for old-fashioned American courage. But, fortunately, their cringing philosophy is not dominant. The true "war mongers" today are the appeasers who unwittingly encourage the same miscalculation by the enemy as has twice before brought on world wars.

Our allies are privileged, of course, to assume the calculated risks of a policy of pacifism and appeasement. They could be right. But the risks of such a policy being wrong are too great for America to take.

What then should America do? We should firmly stand our ground, even if we are the last citadel in the world—the nation that refuses to be beguiled by the wiles of the Communist aggressor.

While it may be painful to say, "I told you so" if World War III some day calls us to rescue our misguided allies from their policies of appeasement and surrender, it is necessary that we do not try, by threatening withdrawal of economic or military aid, to coerce our friends abroad. We must rearm ourselves to the utmost even as we anxiously watch the gradual processes of surrender in the shell-shocked, fatigued and distraught countries that once held morality and honor so high in the councils of the leading powers of the world.

The world may last another 2,000,000,000 years, as some astronomers estimate. But no such guarantee can be made for the human race.

THESE DAYS A Day Not To Forget

I listen for days to the warnings over the radio that this year there will be more accidents on the road on the Fourth of July. The public is warned to be careful. The life that is lost may be your own.

What has this Fourth of July become? Is it a lost week end? Is it a day for chasing from nowhere to nowhere? Is it a pagan Summer festival?

Listen my children and you shall hear of a wondrous story of a brave people, the first colonials to declare their independence from their mother country and to tell the world why. That is why the Fourth of July is celebrated. It was celebrated before anyone ever thought of an automobile; it was celebrated before there was a good road in this country, before there were any state-designated picnic areas to litter with paper and cartons and all the debris of a good time, including broken bottles.

Yes, it was celebrated as a holy birthday, as the day on which a new nation was conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. For it was on this hot day in July, in the city of Philadelphia, dedicated to peace, that a small group of brave men met to issue a proclamation, written principally by Thomas Jefferson of Virginia, philosopher, engineer, statesman, one day to become President of the United States.

It was a most unusual document, for whereas when revolutions are announced, the revolutionists denounce those in power and promise the masses land, food, wealth—whatever it is that men crave—Jefferson set forth a philosophy of politics and of life as the reason for revolution.

I write this in the town of Sandisfield in Massachusetts on a farm that borders on the trail that "Gentleman" Johnny Burgoyne took when he fought Indians; it is on the road where General Henry Knox cut through the forest as he brought the artillery from Ticonderoga to Cambridge. It is a few miles from King Philip's encampment where he laid siege to the settlers in Hartford and Springfield; it is a few miles from where Shay's Rebellion took place on the eve of Washington's Administration.

It is a good place to sit and think about the Fourth of July, of the birth of a nation and of the wondrous preamble which every child of my generation was required to memorize until it remained in the mind like something living that moved and demanded notice. "When in the Course of human events..."

Yes, my children, you are told that to memorize is unnecessary, that you need only to know about things and to understand them. But in 1917, I was in Petrograd on that October day when early in the morning the sailors came up the Neva, firing their guns and proclaiming a new day. They would give the peasants and workers land, peace and bread.

"When in the Course of Human events..." shouted at me in Jefferson's words.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness..."

There was no mob. There was no crowd. There were no great cheering clagues. There was a small committee of five men. Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and R. R. Livingston who were appointed to draft a declaration of independence for the 13 colonies who wished to be free. This the delegates adopted on July 4 and to it all the distinguished signatories pledged with firm resolution that they would protect the "Providence" of their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

And these words we should on this day each year repeat as a prayer to God that we should never be tempted to forget our beloved country and what we owe to it.

Lights Over Broadway Around Town

The Radio City Music Hall stage spectacle is a must see. An amazing replica of Broadway's maza-inferno. The Big Apple's marathon-champ show is "Seven Year Itch" Over 670 perfs. . . Eartha Kitt's platter of "Mink Schminck" is delightful whimsy-schminsky. . . Sheree North has put lots of livin' into her young life. Wed at 15, a mater at 16, a divorcee at 17. . . Collier's current man-trap consists of ten boy-baiting photos of Mrs. Giuseppe Di Maggio. . . Audrey Hepburn (you be astounded to learn) does not have star advertising in her upcoming film, "Young Wives." Merely featured. . . End of Gossip. . . Patti's major role in Goldwyn's version of "Guynodolls." . . Pier Angeli gets a Life cover any issue. . . In "Play-girl," a chap accidentally bumps into Shelley Winters. He lingers: "If there is any damage to the chassis I'd be glad to pay for repairs." . . To which Winters bombastically: "Misterr! You couldn't even pay for the headlights!"

Eva Gabor's pooch recently passed on. She spent $270 for a tombstone. . . Cosmopolitan Magazine's defies alphabetizing is the essay about Robert Montgomery's daughter, A Twinkle off the old Star. . . "The Caine Mutiny" film's May Winn is the first (we think) to keep the name of the character she plays. She was once the Cop-cabana's Donna Lee Hickey. . . Broadway's Loris Peterson clicked big in films in France and Italy for 2 years. Rushed back to see her ailing mother. . . Italy will soon limit the number of U. S. movie people who can work there. Unions complaining. . . Broadway in Friday and Saturday nights (when the joints have to close) is the Main Drag at its ugliest. . . Flights, stabbings, etc. Top street-scene the other 3:30 a.m.: Two girls making like Marciano and Ez at 52nd.

Miltz Gaynor's interview-comment: "husbands are bors." . . clashes with Doris Day's: "If you're not married, you're lonely." (End of Debate). . . "Teahouse of The August Moon" (John Patrick's dramatization of the novel) has won many awards and much coin. Strangely, the book's parent is practically unused: Vern Sneider. . . Celeste Holm's quipper-snapper: "The tragedy of ulcers is that you can have them and still not be a success." . . Ten percent of the gross in Shirley Booth's fee to star in "By The Beautiful Sea." (Stardust is a bargain at any price). . . 51st and Broadway (after 2 a.m.) is the new rendezvous for newspaper people. The newspaper-dictators park there between police calls. Last night staffers from the N. Y. Times, Indianapolis Star, Int'l News and AP joined the Mirror, News and Journal-American crime-chasers to talk shop. Shelley Gotsman (the J-A's photog-sleuth) got a $50 bonus for tracing the hit-and-run-driver of a Caddy which killed a woman the other 5 a.m.

The Kansas boyhood of the Eisenhower brothers is beautifully recorded in Woman's Home Companion. The piece has a charming Mark Twain quality. . . Bill Holden (says a mag) "married the only girl ever linked with him in gossip columns." (Those terrible gossip columns). . . Whatever became of the household phrases: "Just the facts, ma'am" and "Point of Order"? . . . Perez Prado (Cuban Negro band chief) will be the first of his race to star at the Waldorf. Hired, fired and re-hired when RCA exes stepped in. Quite a hassle. . . Broadway's Loris Peterson clicked big in films in France and Italy for 2 years. Rushed back to see her ailing mother. . . Our Children

On the Fourth of July we celebrate the birthday of this nation. Now more than ever before in our history, we must take time to look back to that first Fourth of July when a group of men pledged their lives and their fortunes and their sacred honor in defense of the freedom of mankind as represented in this, the beginnings of a free nation.

It was no small thing they did that day. Representing as they did a handful of people who had no other defense than this, the principle of freedom, a spiritual force, against a mighty land that had armies and ships and money at command. No small thing, this, to pledge their lives, all that they had, all they hoped to have in defense of that principle. But they possessed one great source of power. They trusted in the power of Almighty God to aid them in their battle for righteousness and He did not fail them.

The story of the Declaration of Independence, its announcement to the people, the war that followed, the story of the men and women who fought and triumphed in that war and the establishment of the government of the new nation is dramatic, thrilling and inspiring. It is essential that our boys and girls hear that story and understand its implications.

In recent years we have been neglecting the celebration of the Fourth in a way to impress its importance on the children and young people. We have made a joy holiday of it without reference to its meaning to everyone of us.

We must go back and take up again the patriotic observance of the day in school and community that our youth may learn what this nation stands for, what a price was paid for its life, what a price we owe for it today in terms of devoted service. We need to accent the fact that freedom, liberty of body, mind and act must be bought and paid for over and over again; that what our forefathers did when they pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor in defense of this ideal we must do in our turn.

It is time that we of the older generation devoted ourselves to the instruction of youth in their history, to set them to thinking, questioning as to where we are today, where we are going and for what reason. No greater story can be told, no finer goal has ever been set, than shines through the story of this Nation's birth and history. Let's tell it again and again until every school child thrills to it, until every youth in the land stands up and cheers for it. Let's make patriotism, the real, the spiritual patriotism that inspired the forefathers, the fashion for young America.

Let us begin with the story of the old watchman waiting in the tower to ring the Liberty Bell. If it is not true, it ought to be. It is a great song and the children loved to sing it long ago. Let us not stop until every child, every student in every school and college in the land thrills to the story of the Fourth of July, God save America.

IN WASHINGTON What Have I Done?

Trying to answer Communist propaganda is like futilely swiping at an irritating and elusive mosquito. You're likely to wind up worn out by wasted effort.

That has been demonstrated in Europe and in Korea and now in Latin America. Uncle Sam may spread his hands helplessly and ask "What have I done?" The answer will be only grim looks from millions of Latinos who are convinced that the U. S. must be wrong.

Careful study of our relationships with Latin America preceded Moscow's orders to infiltrate Guatemala. The Reds not only train their foreign agents well, but they have worked out a time table on which propaganda is launched to rally to their side other countries of the same blood and the same sympathies, even though their peoples hate Communism.

For example, it was not difficult to convince the press and many of the people of other Latin-American nations that the U. S. had a hand in the anti-Communist revolt on Guatemala because this country has a reputation, rightly or wrongly, for fomenting trouble in Latin America to serve its own interests.

The Communists are masters at spreading their propaganda. They train their agents thoroughly in a central institute in Moscow. Latin American countries have been infiltrated by scores of Latino graduates of that school. In contrast the U. S. trains no propagandists, finds itself trying to defend itself against untrue charges which were timed to coincide with any action in Guatemala.

The suspicion here is that the anti-Communist revolt was assisted by some under-cover Communists. Regardless of which army wins, the Reds will make use of the outcome to further their own cause south of the border. If the anti-Communists are repulsed, an attempt to overthrow the government with U. S. backing has failed; if the revolt succeeds, the United States has imposed dictatorship upon people of Latin blood. It's annoying, but it is working.

In Korea, it was germ warfare. That was more effective than propaganda that the U. S. was trying to impose its will on Asia, which would have sounded too far fetched to the Asians. Besides, other nations joined us in the Korean fighting. But we were the ones charged with germ warfare.

With the exception of the U. S. Information Service including the Voice of America, this country has no centralized, government directed agency to answer the unscrupulous, but capable directed, propaganda of the Reds. The cold war is still undecided, but the Communists so far have won the word war.

U.S.I.S. and the Voice have done their best within the limitations placed upon them, but it's rather like beating your breast and shouting "look, I'm Really a Nice Guy" in response to a torrent of lies poured into the ears of neighbors who will believe any story, if it is repeated often enough.

The United States has been brought up on the idea that good salesmanship and smart advertising will convince the customer. Those techniques apparently are not enough to win world public opinion to our side today, especially when our enemies play upon prejudices with lies.

Nobody in government seems to have a concrete idea how to meet the unfriendly feeling reported to be spreading in South America, started in motion by the Moscow trained propagandists. The idea of dumping vast sums of money into countries threatened by Communism has had limited success in Europe, very little in Asia. It has not been applied to South America with the result that Red propaganda has made tremendous progress, employing the same pattern which Washington has seen unfold in Europe and Asia.

Using at least the descriptive name, the time seems ripe for a revival of the "good neighbor policy," but on a broader scale. That cannot be done in a day or a year. It cannot be done at all unless it is directed by the right people, who have had experience in Latin American dealings, and who know how to direct a policy of friendship.

How Louisiana's Congressmen Rate In 1954 Party Voting

WASHINGTON—Louisiana Democratic Congressmen tallied 66 per cent in Party Voting so far this year, a Congressional Quarterly survey of records of Louisiana's Congressional delegation shows.

Party Voting measures "yea" and "nay" votes actually cast with the majority of the Member's own party, CQ said. The state's senior Senator, Ellender, a Democrat voted with his party 67 per cent of the time on the 73 roll-call ballots in the Senate through June 23.

Louisiana's junior Senator Long, a Democrat, answered the roll the same way the majority of his party did on 64 per cent of these record ballots.

Senators' Votes With Party
According to Congressional Quarterly's analysis of roll-call votes, Sen. Ellender voted with his party majority on 49 and bucked his party majority on 16 of the 73 ballots.

Sen. Long voted with his party 47 times and against it 21 times. Last year, Sen. Ellender voted the same way as the main body of his party on 53 per cent of all roll calls while Sen.

Long was with his party on 48 per cent of the votes. Stands or pairs for or against an issue were not counted in this analysis. Only "yea" or "nay" votes were tabulated. Thus, since CQ's Party-Voting study measures the extent to which a lawmaker made use of his opportunity to vote, failure to answer roll calls lowered his percentage.

Sen. Ellender did not vote on 8 record ballots. Sen. Long failed to answer 5 roll calls.

Rep. Passman's Score
Rep. Passman, a Democrat has voted the "party-line" 79 per cent of the time this year.

He voted with the majority of his party on 26 and against his party majority on 7 of the 33 roll-call ballots in the House through June 15.

Last year he voted the same way as did a majority of his party on 61 per cent of all the roll calls in the House. Rep. Passman did vote on all record ballots this year.

How Leaders Scored
The average party-voting percentage for all Senate Republicans was 77; for all Democrats, 62. Senate party leaders had the following percentage scores: Republican Floor Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.), 89; Republican Whip Leverett Saltonstall (Mass.), 78; Democratic Floor Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.), 79; Democratic Whip Earle C. Clements (Ky.), 79.

The average party-voting percentage for all House Republicans this year was 77; for Democrats, 69. Party-voting percentages for House leaders: Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck (R-Ind.), 83; Minority Whip Leslie C. Arends (R-Ill.), 88; Minority Leader Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), 89; Minority Whip John W. McCormack (D-Mass.), 82.

CRITICAL PROBLEM—The most critical problem pressing for solution is Indo-China. The frantic efforts of Secretary Dulles to come to an understanding with France and England. . . Just prior to the Geneva Conference met with dismal failure. Now the British are reported to be . . . formulating a plan of collective defense for all of Southeast Asia. . . If the British and ourselves can come to an agreement, it will be a step in the right direction and definitely better than the possible and desperate unilateral military action. . . United States has been considering in the past month," Rep. Charles R. Howell (D. N.J.), June 21 newsletter.

No Help For France—This nation cannot afford to support colonial systems which . . . were set up to exploit the resources of backward countries. We should let France settle her own troubles. France, not we, established this colonial government in Indo-China, and if she insists on holding it, let her defend her own position," Rep. Usher L. Burdick (R. N.D.), June 17 newsletter.

Asiatic Trouble Spot—". . . at this very moment there are greedy men lurking in the troubled areas of Asia who, without hesitation or consideration for their fellow men, would plunge our entire world into a carnage of blood. We must not be lulled by the tranquility of our own surroundings."—Rep. James T. Patterson (R. Conn.), June 12 speech, Winston, Conn.

Cigarette Smokers Still Puffing---With Restraint

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most of the country's cigarette smokers still are puffing away—though apparently with some restraining anxieties—despite medical reports the habit might hasten their death.

This was the situation indicated today by checks with tobacco wholesalers and retailers in more than a score of major cities across the nation.

Most of them said they had detected no change in cigarette sales since an American Cancer Society report 10 days ago that average cigarette users 50 to 70 die sooner, mainly of heart attacks or cancer.

"Smokers seem generally complacent about it," said a San Francisco wholesaler. "They figure why worry when the hydrogen bomb is liable to snuff out their lives anyhow someday."

However, there were some reports of sales drops, amounting to as much as 25 per cent, along with other signs some smokers were disturbed. A change to filter-tipped cigarettes was a wide trend.

Among 75 sources, some of them representing chains with hundreds of outlets, 52 said cigarette sales had remained unchanged, 15 reported slumps, usually slight, and 7 reported sales increases.

"The scare has just switched them around to filtered cigarettes," said a Dallas wholesaler. "We also sell more pipes than ever before, but there's no real decline in cigarette sales."

"People just fuss, raise hell, buy pipes and then go right back to cigarettes."

The survey gave no general evidence of a big run on chewing tobacco, cigars, snuff or pipes as a substitute for cigarettes.

Distributors in Washington, D.C., reported:

"The demand for pipes, pipe tobacco and cigars has risen slightly."

Indications of a switch was to filter-tipped, long cigarettes came from dealers in nearly every city.

"More filtered smokes are offsetting any loss in sale of regular brands," said wholesalers in Raleigh, N.C.

Cigarette holders also were getting popular.

Said one of Connecticut's largest retailers:

"We've sold more filter-type cigarette holders during the past year than in the history of the company. People are looking for all kinds of ways to continue smoking to avoid any harmful effects."

Many sources said it was too soon to gauge the effects of the latest medical report accurately.

"Dealers are imagining all sorts of things, from boom to bust, before the statistics are in," said a spokesman for the National Assn. of Tobacco Distributors, which includes 3,033 wholesalers.

"Actually, it will be impossible to determine reliably what the ef-

Kenyon Does Not Recall Discussing Bill With Mahoney

BATON ROUGE —UP— Gov. Robert F. Kenyon today said he did not "recall having discussed the Jefferson Lake bill with Sen. Mahoney."

Sen. Louis A. Mahoney, shortly before the Senate approved the $897,465 appropriation, charged that Kenyon had personally "threatened" him and that he, Mahoney, was "one person who doesn't give a damn if (Kenyon) vetoes every bill passed by this Legislature."

"I do not recall having discussed the Jefferson Lake bill with Sen. Mahoney," Kenyon said in a prepared statement issued after the incident. "Nor have I directed any member of the governor's staff to talk to Sen. Mahoney. I have made no threats of any nature to the Mayor of New Orleans."

He said the bill was in payment of a "just debt, rightfully owed by the State of Louisiana," and that the Legislature "followed its constitutional duty in making this appropriation."

Mahoney made his blast at Kenyon and strode out of the Senate chamber after remarking, "to show my repudiation of the Governor of Louisiana for threats he imposed on the Legislature of Louisiana, I take your leave."

Speculation circled the Senate over whether Mahoney meant he had resigned.

Mahoney was reported to have told newsmen before his departure for his home in New Orleans that he was "certainly considering" resigning. He called for a "full investigation of the governor's interest in this bill."

Mahoney said he threatened to "punch" Kenyon if the governor "threatened" him again.

"The bribes, threats and intimidations on this bill have been unbelievable," he said. "Incidentally Kenyon had threatened to veto New Orleans appropriations if the Orleans delegation didn't support the bill."

MRS. JOHN EVERETTE CHEEK

Cheek-Hudson Vows Exchanged

Miss Carolyn Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle R. Hudson of West Monroe, and John Everette Cheek, son of Mrs. Marie Cheek and the late O. L. Cheek of this city, were married in an impressive double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. A. T. Mitchell at the Ridge Avenue Baptist church. Baskets of white gladioli were placed along the chancel with a myriad of white cathedral tapers in candelabra entwined in green-son, ushers, lighted the candles. Miss Betty Fisher presented nuptial music and accompanied Miss Irma Grace Stevens who sang "Because," "My Hero," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The maid of honor, Miss Shirley Hudson, sister of the bride, was wearing a lavender organdy model over matching taffeta which featured a strapless bodice and matching bolero. The bouffant skirt was ankle-length. She carried a bouquet of orchid asters with matching streamers and wore a chaplet of matching blossoms in her hair. Bridesmaids were Miss Nell Cheek, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Barbara Taylor. They wore light green ankle-length dresses of organdy over matching taffeta fashioned identical with the maid of honor's gown. They carried bouquets of pink asters and wore matching flowers as a head-dress.

Ivy Ray Johnson served the groom as best man.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a waltz-length wedding gown of white lace over taffeta. It featured a fitted bodice, bouffant skirt and long tight sleeves which extended to points over the wrist. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a small white hat studded in rhinestones. She carried a white orchid surrounded by tuberoses atop a white Bible.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth and centered with an epergne of gardenias. Tapers were placed on each side of the centerpiece. The wedding cake and punch service were placed at opposite ends of the table.

Miss Margaret Wilhite served the wedding cake and Miss Sammie Camp presided at the punch bowl. The bride's book was kept by Miss Grace Antley.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion an aqua lace dress with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige model with brown and white accessories and a corsage of beige blossoms.

For her wedding trip, the bride changed to a light blue dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

They will make their home at 802 Auburn Avenue, Monroe.

The first lightning rod was installed by Benjamin Franklin in 1752.

STUMP TOURS KOREA

SEOUL, July 2.—UP—Adm. Felix B. Stump, commander of the U.S. Pacific fleet, arrived in Korea Friday for a tour of marine units.

Edwina Villa Has Party On First Birthday

Edwina Dolores Villa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Villa, celebrated her first birthday with an outdoor party in her home on Joseph Street. A blue and pink color theme was used in the decorations of the table and the birthday cake was in pink and white.

Attending the party with Edwina were Patty and Peggy Patterson, Cathy and Susan Savage, Diana and Rose Mary Bartlette, Penny and Virginia Nichols, Charlotte Ford, Carol Sue Martin, Freddy Adams, Jimmy Hood, Sherrell Louise Brown, and Chere Thompson of Lake Charles.

Mrs. Stewart Is Party Honoree

Mrs. Kenneth Stewart of Osyka, Miss., who is the house guest of her sister, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, has been the inspiration for several informal parties since her arrival here early in the week. On Wednesday morning Mrs. W. G. Saunders was hostess at a coke party in her home on North Fourth street honoring Mrs. Stewart.

Picturesque arrangements of dahlias adorned the living room and centering the dining table was an artistic display of roses.

Enjoying the occasion with the honor guest and hostess were Mrs. Charles Nunnally, Jr., of Alexandria; Mrs. E. H. Myrick of Rayville; Mrs. Doyle Hamilton, Mrs. James A. Noe, Mrs. Stanley Blower, Mrs. Joe Brown, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. W. E. Smith, Mrs. Gladys Collins, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale.

At noon Wednesday, Mrs. Shelby Cage entertained Mrs. Stewart at an informal luncheon at Bayou Desiard Country Club.

The J. B. Kugler home on Bright avenue was the scene of a barbecue honoring Mrs. Stewart Wednesday night.

Luncheon Held Mrs. James A. Noe's compliment to Mrs. Stewart was a luncheon at noon yesterday in her home on Fairview.

Arrangements of white summer flowers were placed at points throughout the reception rooms.

Luncheon guests, in addition to the honor guest and hostess, were Mrs. Roy Skillman, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. Charles Nunnally, Jr., Mrs. Gordon McClendon of Dallas, Mrs. Shelby Cage, Mrs.

Power Is Cut Off For Change-Over

Electric power in a portion of Monroe's northside was off early Friday morning for about an hour and a half. Commissioner of Finance Frank X. Cline said.
According to Cline, the power was turned off about 4:30 a.m. Friday while crewmen were making cable changes at the plant in line with the huge reconstruction program for plant expansion and improvement which has been going on there several months.
Cline said power was back on all over the city by 6 a.m. He said the changes were made early since most persons are asleep at that time, and were less likely to be affected by the cut-off.

Love Triangle Leads To Shooting; Charges Filed Against Rich Lumberman

MEMPHIS (AP)—A wealthy Mississippi lumberman was free on bond today, accused of shooting his brother-in-law, W. G. Lawson, in a fight over Lawson's wife.

Bruce Bowdon, 47, owner of a Coldwater, Miss., lumber company, surrendered to police here yesterday and pleaded innocent to charges of assault to murder and carrying a pistol.

Lawson, 44, was reported in fair condition at a hospital with two .38 bullet wounds received in a violent 2 a.m. battle in a bedroom at Lawson's home.

Mrs. Lawson, an attractive 35-year-old blonde, told police she had planned to divorce her husband and marry Bowdon, but changed her mind last Wednesday.

She told homicide officers her decision brought on the shooting and she felt that Bowdon "meant to kill me."

Bowdon's wife had filed suit for divorce in Memphis but went to court yesterday to request that it be withdrawn.

Mrs. Bowdon, a pretty brunette, said she was afraid she'd get in trouble because the divorce bill was filed in Tennessee and she lived in Mississippi.

The judge agreed. He ordered Bowdon and three lawyers handling the case to appear July 13 and show cause why they should not be cited for contempt.

Homicide Inspector Pete Welbenga quoted Lawson as saying Bowdon telephoned late Wednesday night and demanded payment of $1,000 "which I have spent on your wife and children."

Welbenga said Lawson told Bowdon he "didn't owe him a red cent" and then called for police protection when Bowdon threatened him.

A police car was sent to the Lawson house. The officers parked near the house for about 30 minutes, then left after assuring the Lawsons they would patrol the area.

Lawson said he and his wife were in the bedroom when he heard the window screen behind him rip.

"The first shot went by my head, just missing it," he said. "The second just missed my chest. By then I had jumped up. Bowdon was coming in the window, shooting. He shot six times in all."

The men fought through the house while Mrs. Lawson telephoned police. Lawson said Bowdon ran out the front door just before police arrived.

Mrs. Lawson said she had broken off with Bowdon a few hours earlier, during a telephone conversation. "I told him it was too... too... I don't know what to call it," she said.

The Lawsons have four children: Vicki, 9; Bobby, 7; Bruce, 4; and Marilyn, 3.

U. S. Citizens Donate Food To Piedras Negras

PIEDRAS NEGRAS, Mex. (AP)—Emilio Sandoval sat slumped in a straight-backed chair in the doorway of his ruined hotel. He rubbed the three-day stubble of black and gray on his jaw and glanced back at the bare room, at the warped boards cluttering the stone floor, at the five-foot water mark on the walls.

"You will forgive me, please, if I don't get up," he said.

His clenched fist made a circular motion over the pit of his stomach.

"I am upset by this," he said. "I have a bad feeling in here."

Monday night Sandoval had been hurrying to clear the lobby of his hotel before flood waters moved in. He was trapped in the hotel when the rising water took a sudden surge.

"I never thought to see it happen," he said. "Nothing like it ever happened before — to see the water racing down that street."

That is why Sandoval is like most of the living and the dead in Piedras Negras — they never thought to see it happen.

Now the border sun bakes the caked mud in the streets and shimmers off the foul waters still standing in many places. There is no water system left in the town of some 35,000 across the Rio Grande from Eagle Pass. Children squat and scoop water out of the streets to quench their thirst, and old women bending double to wash their clothing in the pools bring it out coated with slime.

Across the border south Texans have gathered up donations of food and a helicopter assigned to the Red Cross by Gary Air Force Base, San Marcos, Tex., brings it across, trip after trip. But the only distribution system is to pile the food in pickup trucks and drive it to camps that sprawl squalidly over the hills around town.

Mexican authorities bring in tank trucks full of pure water from inland towns but there isn't enough to go around.

Meat Rationing In England To End Tomorrow

LONDON, July 2 (UP)—The Conservative government announced Friday that meat rationing will end Sunday, eliminating the last of the food restrictions imposed on Britain at the outbreak of World War II.

For the first time in nearly 15 years, it will be legally possible next week for any Briton to buy as much of any kind of food as his purse will permit. Tea, candy, sugar, eggs, butter, cheese, margarine and cooking fats all had been rationed previously.

Famed London restaurants from Simpson's to the Savoy will celebrate the occasion by serving dinner "on the house" to selected guests Monday night.

Sentenced Pair Taken To Angola

Edna Mitchell and John Smith, two Negroes who were sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary, were transferred to Angola today by E. L. (Pop) Walker, chief criminal investigator for the Ouachita Parish sheriff's department.

A third prisoner, Harold Puckett, who was sentenced to two three-year terms to run concurrently for burglary and auto theft, was also taken to Angola by Walker.

Crosstie Theft Is Probed By Sheriff

Sheriff's deputies yesterday were investigating the disappearance of 75 crossties from the Monroe Sand and Gravel Co. properties near West Monroe.

The crossties, valued at $1.25 each, disappeared, it is reported, during daylight hours on July 1. The disappearance was not reported until yesterday morning, Sheriff Bailey Grant said, until after company officials checked thoroughly to make certain that a theft had occurred.

Anyone knowing anything about the disappearance of the crossties is asked by Sheriff Grant to contact the sheriff's office at once.

The ties are used by the gravel company in conjunction with its own rail network used in its sand and gravel operations.

YORK

ROOM AIR CONDITIONER

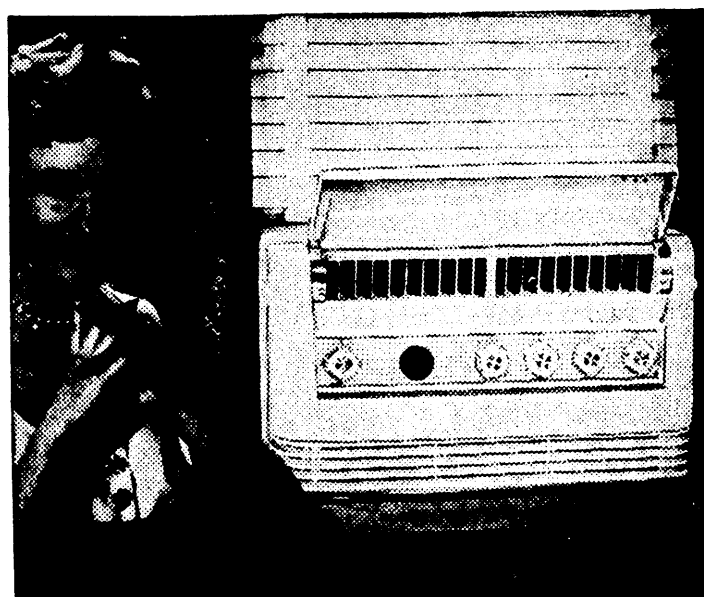

Just Because York Is Best Doesn't Mean It's the Most Expensive.

SEE US FOR THE BEST DEAL ANYWHERE . . .

Remember, YORK makes no refrigerators, stoves, TV sets, tractors, etc. . . just the best air conditioning, refrigeration and heating equipment.

Service & Parts Locally

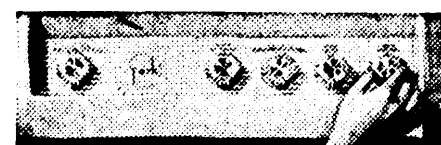

We stock complete lines of parts and maintain full service department right here in Monroe. That's very important.

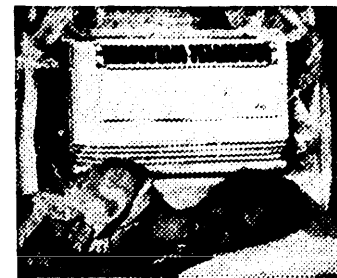

A York
room air conditioner
brings you the most comforting features of all!

COOL AIR when it's hot . . .
WARM AIR when it's chilly . . .

Simply dial York is a source of extra heat in chilly weather! York brings you super-clean Micro-Air Filtering, too, and fully automatic humidity control. No plumbing required . . . York uses only air and electricity!

Simply dial York's Automatic Comfort Balancer avoids ups and downs of room temperature, despite outdoor changes! York gives you Cushion-Quiet cooling — noise is engineered out! And York's exclusive Rotary Grille circulates all the air without drafts!

Simply dial Ventilate with outside air — whisk away smoky room air! New beauty, too, DeLuxe models mount close to window sill! And York is as dependable as a modern home refrigerator! Entire cooling circuit hermetically sealed, carries full 5-Year Protection Plan!

AUTO LOANS

We refinance cars regardless of who you now owe and let you have extra cash.

We also make loans on almost anything of value.
